

Ohdeedoh: Home. Design. Children.

Fine Doodles

We admit feeling a little skeptical when we first read about this business. Have our children's drawings turned into paintings? But our children's artwork is perfection as it is. How could anyone re-interpret it and come anywhere close to the original beauty? Then we took a look at the gallery. And we couldn't stop smiling!

Summer Myers is a stay-at home mother of two and the artist behind the scenes at Fine Doodles. Parents can commission her through her website to create an acrylic painting based on a child's drawing. The end product neither crushes nor upstages the original, but rather brings it to a vibrant, fleshed out fruition that clearly maintains a deep respect for the original. Check out her gallery and be prepared to grin from ear to ear.

Prices range from $44 to $175 based on size.

Katie Steuernagle

September 15, 2010 09:00AM